SCHOOL IS COOL

Invoking the blessings of Goddess Durga

The festivities of Dussehra at Bhavan's Sri Ramakrishna Vidyalaya started early with students invoking the blessings of Goddess Durga for their well-being.

Nearly 66 tiny-tots from the primary wing enthusiastically participated in the dance drama depicting the spiritual significance of celebrating Dussehra in India. The school true to its motto celebrates every festival with equal grandeur including the recent celebration of the Bathukamma festival. The victory of good over evil was portrayed by burning an effigy of Ravana on the occasion.

To make children learn the significance of Dussehra, the victory of good over evil, a special assembly was conducted by the students of class II with great enthusiasm and energy to mark the festival.

The special assembly began with a fusion song of Lord Rama and the sthотram 'Aigiri Nandini', in which the various forms of Goddess Durga were showcased.

They say one can see God in children. True, as it turns out to be real during the celebrations of festivals at the school with children looking no less than little Gods and Goddesses wearing colourful costumes. The children took to the stage to talk about the significance of the festival with their peers.

They also enacted the roles of the deity with perfect poise, confidence and expression. The western states of India celebrate Navratri, with the traditional dance form 'Garba'. The children also performed a 'Dandiya' in traditional attire and earned huge applause from the audience.

The nine incarnations of Goddess Durga were also presented on stage creating a replica of the celebrations. The efforts of the students were applauded by headmistress Gowri Sarkar.

MY INSPIRATION FOR BEING A TEACHER

Shy timid and a perfect introvert with a low self-esteem, I always thought nobody knew I even existed until she came to me and said, "You are very good". I believed her and that was the influence she had on me.

It has been two and a half decades since I left school but I still remember that teacher and the other teachers who were both patient and caring. At a very young age I knew what I wanted to become when I grew up. Inspired by my teacher, I also wanted to touch and connect with each and every student. It was my desire to guide and help them fight their fears and grow into an emotionally and mentally strong beacon that can guide a generation.

MY FAVOURITE TEACHER-STUDENT PAIR ON SCREEN

A student and teacher's relationship is like one of a parent and child. I love the movie, Hickki because it shows a beautiful relationship between underprivileged students and their teacher affected by Tourette Syndrome. Despite all odds, she never gives up and tries to unleash the inner potential of her students and harnesses their anger correctly. She encourages her students to spread their wings and fly. She proves a teacher can be a mentor, guide and even a friend. A teacher always has immense love for her students.
